SOURCE

1. On 30 April 1951, about 600 troops with a band marched out of the Norddeutsche Werke in Luckenwalde (N 53/C 70) and returned about two hours later. On 2 May, three tanks, apparently T-34s, left the billeting area and went toward the railroad station. Conversations with German residents living nearby led source to believe that the Norddeutsche Werke quartered a training unit. The absence of heavy weapons and large vehicular traffic, and the scarcity of outdoor training activity supported this belief. *
2. Fifteen T-34 tanks participated in a field exercise on Gottower Strasse on 17 April. The tanks were still on Gottower Strasse in early May. They had been emplaced and camouflaged, and they were protected by 14 AA guns. Source saw battery commanders' telescopes and telephone wires near the tanks and guns, and concluded, therefore, that the weapons were part of the improved tactical defense position. **
3. The following vehicles were parked in front of the Soviet Kommandantura on Willi Scholz Strasse in early May:
